About the EBRD

The European Bank for Reconstruction and Development (EBRD) promotes the development of sustainable, private sector-led economies in central and eastern Europe, Central Asia and North Africa. The Bank helps them to address 21st-century challenges and lends support to improve the lives and environments of citizens across society.

Through investment, policy reform and advisory projects, the EBRD works to make economies more competitive, well governed, green, inclusive, resilient and integrated. These “transition qualities” best equip countries for a prosperous and equitable future for all.

The Bank’s goals are closely aligned with those of the United Nations 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, which aims to deliver economic, social and environmental progress.

The EBRD invests in projects that cannot be funded solely by the private sector, but which follow sound banking principles. It works mainly with private clients, though it also finances public entities that deliver essential infrastructure, goods and services.

It partners with donors that provide funding for advisory and technical assistance projects crucial to the success of Bank investments.[1]

The EBRD is owned by 73 shareholder governments, the European Union and the European Investment Bank. It operates from headquarters in London, with a network of Resident Offices and satellite offices across the EBRD regions.
